

Japan's Renewed Commitment on Climate Finance 2021-25

- Japan will provide climate finance, both public and private, totaling JPY 6.5 trillion over the next 5 years, from 2021 to 2025, as announced by Japanese PM Suga at the G7 Cornwall Summit in June. This commitment stands out as a sizeable amount among other developed countries. This is the same high level as its previous commitment up to 2020, JPY 1.3 trillion (equivalent to approximately USD 11.8 billion) per year.
- Under this new commitment, Japan will further enhance its assistance for adaptation.

Public finance
(ODA and OOF)

Private finance mobilized by public assistance

Mitigation

- We support to reduce GHG emissions in developing countries.
- Typical examples include energy sector, such as renewable energy.

Adaptation

- We support to prevent or reduce damage caused by climate change especially for vulnerable countries to the impacts of climate change.
- Typical examples include development of basic infrastructure contributing to disaster prevention and support for capacity building.

(OOF(Other Official Flows) includes loan by JBIC and export insurance by NEXI.)

Climate finance totaling JPY 6.5 trillion from 2021 to 2025